President Bradshaw stated that Trustees may have noticed the new campus banners that depict the mission and values of FGCU. He stated this was an initiative of the Student Government, and he thanked the students for this great addition to campus. The concept for the banners came from incoming Student Government President Isaac Roman. Isaac’s idea for the banners was to display major concepts from the University’s Guiding Principles. He worked closely with our Community Relations and Marketing Office on compliance with FGCU’s official colors and logo. Isaac provided the concepts to fellow student and artist Eric Barreto, who designed the banners. Eric graduated from FGCU in December with a degree in graphic arts. He is the son of FGCU Chemistry professor Dr. Jose Barreto and federal grants research associate Patty Barreto. President Bradshaw stated the banners are a tremendous addition to our campus and provide a fitting message to all who come to campus as students, faculty, staff and visitors.

President Bradshaw stated that Friday the University will celebrate an important day in the life of FGCU – Research Day and The Celebration of Excellence. This event... provides an opportunity to highlight outstanding research initiatives and also honor excellence in our students, faculty and staff. He encouraged everyone to attend and stated Trustee Hart will represent the FGCU Board of Trustees at the event—back, as they say, by popular demand from the campus!

He thanked Dr. Rogers and the committee members for their hard work during the past months. President Bradshaw reported the search advisory committee recently advanced 6 candidates for on-campus interviews. Each of these candidates is spending 1 ½ days on campus being interviewed by not only the search advisory committee but also all campus constituents. The on-campus interviews will conclude this Friday, and the search advisory committee is charged with providing the President with a list of unranked, qualified candidates for consideration. President Bradshaw stated his goal is the have the new Athletic Director in place by July 1st.
