GENDER EQUITY FOR ALL - TITLE IX at FGCU

All FGCU students have a right to study in an environment free of sexual misconduct or harassment or any form of sexual violence. The Federal Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 regulation was created to provide: gender equity in education for all.

If you believe that you have been a victim or subjected to or impacted in any way related to gender equity, please contact Jimmy Myers, of the Office of Equity and Diversity who is the Title IX Coordinator at FGCU. Additional resources are available from: the Dean of Students and the University Police Department (contact information is below).

PLEASE, if you should ever feel that you have experienced directly or indirectly (or know someone else who has) experienced a situation related to harassment or sexual assault or violence (or other gender discrimination), report it. Too many situations on college campuses go unreported for a variety of reasons, so please assist us in stopping problematic or questionable behavior related to sexual misconduct.

Conversations with the Coordinator for Title IX will be kept as confidential as possible. However, information about incidents of sexual misconduct must be shared with select administrators at FGCU if there are safety concerns for others. In all cases, the wishes of the person initiating the conversation are given full consideration.

Obviously these are difficult discussions to have, but if incidents go unreported, a bad situation could happen to another student and none of us wants that. When reporting an incident, we will also provide you with additional support resources available to you such as the counseling center, victim advocate and the Dean of Students Office staff at FGCU.
